

BAY CITY NEWS FOUNDATION

Serving the Bay Area because LocalNewsMatters.org

Bay City News Foundation supports original, local journalism for the San Francisco Bay Area, informing the region's nearly 8 million residents about the people, places and issues that deserve more attention.

Bay City News Service journalists report on breaking news, traffic, weather, disasters, public events, crime, courts, government decisions, newsmakers and the local issues that matter to the San Francisco Bay Area's nearly 8 million residents. The regional newswire, independent and locally owned, provides 24/7 coverage to most other media in the region, including TV, radio, print and digital outlets. Our nonprofit affiliate publishes stories at LocalNewsMatters.org, including public service work, features and special projects. We are building our social media presence on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram @baynewsmatters.

Our interns get on-the-job training and mentoring. Interns cover breaking news just like our regular staff, writing about fires, crime, City Hall, protests, environmental news, transportation issues and more as news breaks around the 9-county Bay Area, all with guidance from experienced editors. They also write features, do social media related to building the branding and distribution of our news coverage on LocalNewsMatters.org, and are encouraged to take on a special project to help their portfolios stand out.

INTERNSHIPS LAST THREE OR SIX MONTHS.

HOURS AND DAYS ARE FLEXIBLE, DEPENDING ON THE WORK ASSIGNED.
